

Machines exist; let us then exploit them to create beauty — a modern beauty, while we are about it. For we live in the twentieth century; let us frankly admit it and not pretend that we live in the fifteenth.

Aldous Huxley
Printing of Today (1928)

TUGBOAT

COMMUNICATIONS OF THE T_EX USERS GROUP

EDITOR BARBARA BEETON

VOLUME 9, NUMBER 3

PROVIDENCE

DECEMBER 1988

RHODE ISLAND

U.S.A.